1. INTRODUCTION

The declaration of COVID-19 as a global pandemic by the World Health Organisation led to the disruption of effective teaching and learning in many schools in South Africa. Many learners across grades spent less time in class due to the phased-in approach as well as, rotational / alternative timetables that were implemented across provinces. Consequently, most schools were not able to complete all the relevant content prescribed in Grades 10-12 in accordance with the Curriculum and Assessment Policy Statements for Tourism.

Part of the mitigation and intervention against the impact of COVID-19 in the current Recovery Plans in Grades 10-12, the Department of Basic Education (DBE) worked in collaboration with Subject Specialists from various Provincial Education Departments (PEDs) to develop this Self-Study Guide Booklet.

This Self Study Guide Booklet includes and covers topics, skills and concepts for 'Sustainable and Responsible Tourism' prescribed in the Teaching plans for this topic in Grade 12. Content in this booklet is critical towards laying a strong foundation to better understand and improve the understanding of this topic.

The main aim of this booklet is to:

- Close existing content gaps in this topic
- Improve and strengthen a full understanding of the content prescribed for this topic
- Improve the performance in this topic in Grade 12.

2. HOW TO USE THIS SELF STUDY GUIDE?

This Self-Study Guide Booklet covers the content on Sustainable and Responsible Tourism. The booklet is designed to explain and improve understanding of the topics that learners find challenging in the Grade 12 NSC Examinations. This booklet does not cover all the topics but includes only those topics that covers core content in each knowledge area.

Work your way through this Self Study Guide Booklet to:

- Improve your understanding of the content.
- Identify your areas of weakness and improve upon these weaknesses.
- Improve your techniques of how-to breakdown a question in order to answer it more accurately.

The selected key concepts are accompanied by explanatory notes/summaries and assessment practice activities to improve the process of answering questions in the NSC Examination. The guide also provides relevant answers and further provides guidance on how to use the mark allocation and structure of a question to develop an accurate response.

Further guidance is provided on Examination and Study Tips to better prepare yourself in this topic and this section of the National Senior Certificate Examination (NSC) question paper.

To ensure a good performance in Tourism, cover the remaining topics of the curriculum well, by using a textbook(s) and notes / summaries.

This Self Study Guide Booklet serves to ensure that you are prepared for the end-of-year NSC examination. The importance of your success cannot be over-emphasised towards preparing a bright future for yourself. Accept this challenge towards seeing yourself on the brink of taking the first steppingstone in preparing to participate in the future of the South African economy.

Sustainable tourism

The concept of Sustainability

- Looking after the resources we have now, to make sure that we will still have them in the future.
- Preserving and protecting resources so that future generations can enjoy them.
- It is concerned with the well-being of the environment, people, and the economy.

Sustainable tourism practices

- When tourism in an area is developed, this will have an impact on the natural environment. It is often a negative one.
- The aim should be to conserve the natural environment and to minimise the negative impacts of tourism on the environment.
- Tourism businesses have a responsibility to ensure that tourism is managed in such a way that it will reduce the negative and increase the positive impacts of tourism.
- It should ensure that the environment is preserved, and tourism is sustainable.

Sustainable practices can be broken into what are known as the 'three pillars of sustainability': environmental sustainability, social sustainability, and economic sustainability. These pillars are often also known as Planet, People, Profit (3P's) or Triple Bottom line (TBL). For any tourism business to be truly sustainable they need to take a holistic approach to their business practices that require a careful balance of each of the 3 pillars. Let's look at each pillar individually.

Sustainable and responsible tourism

Sustainable tourism

To make sure that there will be tourism resources for the future generations. The focus is on having a positive impact on the community and environment.

The three pillars of Sustainable Tourism (people, planet profit)

[Source: shutterstock.com]

Environmental (planet)

- Most of what South Africa has to offer to tourists is nature based, and many tourists travel to our country to enjoy its scenic beauty or to do activities that involve nature.
- The continued success of sustainable tourism, therefore, depends on the preservation of the natural environment.
- Uncontrolled development in the tourism industry can lead to damage / loss of the natural environment.
- Everyone involved in the tourism industry can reduce their negative impact on the planet and ensure sustainability through good environmental practices.

Good environmental practices

1. Resource management (energy and water)

Tourism businesses must reduce their energy usage to minimize pollution and protect our limited resources.

ENERGY	WASTE MANAGEMENT
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ○ Switch to energy-saving lights. ○ Switch off lights, appliances and equipment that are not in use. ○ Install sensors/timers in rooms that automatically switch lights off when people leave. ○ Switch off the geyser during the day and investing in a geyser blanket ○ Use wind or solar power. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ○ Reduce, Reuse, Recycle. ○ Reusing shopping bags. ○ Buying items that are not over-packaged. ○ Composting kitchen waste. ○ Reuse water and waste materials such as plastic, glass and tin. ○ Recycle items that cannot be reused. ○ Provide facilities for recycling, so that guests can dispose of glass, plastic and paper in an environmentally friendly way.
WATER	LITTER CONTROL
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ○ Use water sparingly. ○ Use grey water systems for watering of gardens. ○ Collecting rainwater. ○ Fix all leaking taps. ○ Install taps that have sensors – automatically stops. ○ Encourage hotel guests to re-use towels instead of washing and replacing and washing daily. ○ Plant indigenous plants in the gardens. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ○ Members of the tourism industry can organise or support environmental clean-up initiatives. ○ Ensure that there are enough bins and recycling containers.    [Source: safetysigns4less.co.uk]

POLLUTION CONTROL	ENVIRONMENTALLY FRIENDLY BUILDING
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ○ There are different types of pollution, e.g. air and water pollution. ○ Encourage guests to walk or cycle rather than drive. ○ Ensure that vehicles are energy efficient and scheduling transfers and tours to ensure that vehicles do not travel with only a few or no passengers. ○ Making sure that toxic substances are not washed down the drain. ○ Encouraging the use of biodegradable soaps and shampoos. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ○ Use building materials that are not harmful to the environment. ○ Making sure that the buildings are well insulated so that they keep cool in summer and warm in winter, thus minimizing the need for heating and air-conditioning. ○ Make sure that your buildings and gardens are environmentally friendly. ○ Using modern energy-saving lights and solar panels to heat water. ○ Environmental impact assessment to be conducted before building a structure, a hotel or resort.

PROMOTION OF INDIGENOUS FAUNA AND FLORA	CONTROL OF ALIEN INVASIVE PLANTS
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ○ Support local conservation efforts. ○ Using alien plants in construction and for wood for fires which will not only protect the native flora from the alien invaders, but also from being destroyed for human use. ○ Develop responsible tourist behaviour guidelines for guests. ○ Educate the local community about the environment. ○ Avoid using chemicals and pesticides in gardens and parks. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ○ Remove alien invasive plants. ○ Plant indigenous, water-wise plants!!!   The image shows a sign with a red circle and a diagonal slash over a black silhouette of a person digging. THE 2020 HERMANUS WHALE FESTIVAL WILL BE POSTPONED TO 2021 DUE TO GLOBAL CORONAVIRUS PANDEMIC

About 100,000 visitors had been expected to flock to Hermanus for South Africa's largest family event, which was set to run September 24 through to September 27 2020. Until the 2020 COVID-19 outbreak, which will postpone the Hermanus Whale Festival for a year, this popular family festival had weathered numerous setbacks without being cancelled or postponed. However, as concerns about coronavirus pandemic have led to the abandonment or postponement of major events around the world, the Hermanus Whale Festival now had to join that list for the first time since its inception in 1971.

Hermanus Whale Festival is an annual celebration of the return of the Southern Right Whales from their feeding grounds in Antarctica. Southern Right Whales frequent the South African waters from June to December to mate and to give birth to their offspring.

September... one of the BEST months to be whale watching on the Cape Whale Coast of South Africa! This time of year, spring flowers bloom, whale mating groups are abundant and whale calves are born. We are usually gifted sunny windless days after the Cape unleashed her furious storms and excitement runs high in preparation for our most famous visitors.

Over a period of 3 days, this fishing village will once again bursts into life when thousands of visitors descend upon the town to join in the festivities of this popular event. Accommodation establishments open their doors, restaurants dish up mouth-watering meals and the residents of Hermanus open their hearts in a warm welcome to visitors.

NEW GREEN TOURISM INITIATIVE FOR CAPE TOWN

There are a few cities in the world that can boast a scenic train ride along a magnificent stretch of coastline offering whale spotting from the carriage windows and easy access to major tourist attractions within a 2km radius of train stations. Undertaken as a partnership project between Cape Town Tourism, Metrorail Western Cape and Green Cabs, this new initiative will offer an ecologically sensitive service that hopes to address the ever-increasing global need to travel responsibly.

Rail travel is known to be less harmful to the environment than many other forms of transport and working in association with the project partnership is Green Cab, Cape Town's first eco-transport offering. Green Cab has reduced their carbon footprint by converting its petrol component of its fleet to run on dual fuel, and the diesel component on Biodiesel which achieves a saving of 15 – 20% in carbon emissions.

Green Cabs will be available at stations to transport visitors to attractions, even as far down the Peninsula as Boulders Beach and Cape Point Nature Reserve.

Responsible travel

As a Fair Trade approved tour operator, we pride ourselves on delivering on the promise of responsible tourism in and around South Africa.

A world in one country, South Africa is one of the world's most diverse and fascinating countries, with a range of experiences to enthrall every visitor, whether they are looking for a Big Five adventure in the Kruger, a cultural immersion, a culinary escape or an artistic revelation. And while the options for accommodation, activities and experiences are endless and travellers are spoilt for choice, with no real hard and fast rules about what is a "must-see", there is one rule that is easy to follow in South Africa: Sticking to the principles of Fair Trade Tourism.

The Fair Trade label stands for best practice responsible tourism – defined by fair wages and working conditions, fair purchasing and operations, equitable distribution of benefits and respect for human rights, culture and the environment.

There are some amazing accommodation options around Southern Africa who are "going green" by using water pumped from nearby lakes, solar power for electricity, and wood and thatch for infrastructure and décor. The appeal of camping safaris is also on the up because these create much less of an impact on local environments.

Question 6

Study the web article from theworldcounts.com below and answer the questions that follow:

Negative environmental impacts of tourism

Exponential growth of tourism

In 1950 there were 25 million international tourist arrivals, in 1970 the number was 166 million, and by 1990 it had grown to 435 million. From 1990 to 2018 numbers more than tripled reaching 1.442 billion. By 2030, 1.8 billion tourist arrivals are projected.

Negative environmental impacts of tourism

The negative environmental impacts of tourism are substantial. They include the depletion of local natural resources as well as pollution and waste problems. Tourism often puts pressure on natural resources through over-consumption, often in places where resources are already scarce. Tourism puts enormous stress on local land use, and can lead to increased pollution, natural habitat loss, and more pressure on endangered species. These effects can gradually destroy the environmental resources on which tourism itself depends.

Tourism and climate change

Tourism contributes to more than 5 percent of global greenhouse gas emissions, with transportation accounting for 90 percent of this. By 2030, a 25% increase in CO₂-emissions from tourism compared to 2016 is expected. From 1,597 million tons to 1,998 million tons.

The alternative: Eco-tourism

Eco-tourism offers a greener alternative. Eco-tourism is a rapidly growing industry, with potential benefits for both the environment and the economies of the tourist destinations.

Question 2

Read the following case study and answer the questions that follow.

Welcome to the Working for Water Webpage (WfW)

Alien species that are not indigenous to the area are causing billions of rands of damage to South Africa's economy every year, and are the single biggest threat to the country's biodiversity.

Alien species are plants, animals and micro-organisms that are introduced into countries, and then outcompete the indigenous species. Alien species act as a direct threat to the water security, the relation of the living organisms to one another and the productive use of land. The fight against invasive alien plants is led by the Working for Water (WfW) programme.

Since its inception in 1995, the programme has cleared more than one million hectares of invasive alien plants, providing jobs and training to approximately 20 000 people from among the most marginalized sectors of society. WfW creates a supportive environment for skills training. It is investing in the development of communities wherever it works. It also implements HIV and AIDS projects.

THE 'SWOP SHOP' – HELPING CHILDREN TO CARE

Tourist visiting Gansbaai for shark cage diving are encouraged to visit the Gansbaai White Shark Swop Shop.

The Swop Shop has been in operation since November 2007 promoting development within the local community.

The children of Masekhane collect bottles, tins, plastics and other recyclables in bags to be delivered to the Swop Shop. In return, they earn buying points that they get to spend in the shop. The shop carries stock such as stationery, basic food supplies and clothing.

The project organisers believe the collections in return for something in the shop teach the local children valuable life lessons such as:

- Trading skills
- The importance of recycling
- Taking pride in the cleanliness of their surroundings
- Making choices on what to buy in the shop

The White Shark Swop Shop CSI initiative combines conservation, social improvement and education in a unique way.

4. GENERAL EXAMINATION TIPS

How to prepare/study for the Tourism examination.

In preparing for your final exams work through as many past examination papers as you can. Remember, your success in the final exam will depend on how much extra time you put into preparing.

1. Have all your materials ready before you begin studying – pencils, pens, highlighters, paper, etc.
2. Be positive. Study time must become a habit - keep reminding yourself why you are studying.
3. Self-discipline is key. Be strict with yourself.
4. Draw up a study timetable. Include enough sleep and break times. During break times take a walk outside.
5. Break up your learning sections into manageable parts. Trying to learn too much at one time will only result in a tired, unfocused, and anxious brain.
6. Keep your study sessions short but effective and reward yourself with short, constructive breaks.
7. Teach your concepts to anyone who will listen. It might feel strange at first, but it is worth reading your revision notes out loud.
8. When you make notes remember your brain learns well with colours when you underline, highlight, circle key words.
9. You can also use Mnemonics – words, or short sentences to help you remember.
10. Be confident with the learning areas you know well and focus your brain energy on the sections that you find more difficult to take in.
11. Repetition is the key to retaining information you must learn. Keep going – don't give up!
12. Sleeping at least 8 hours every night, eating properly, and drinking plenty of water are all important things you need to do for your brain. Studying for exams is like strenuous exercise, so you must be physically prepared.
13. Use the correct terminology and subject language as you are preparing, that way you are used to them by the time you are writing exam (e.g. correct names for icons)
14. Compile a glossary in your notebook for all the sections of the work.
15. Practise writing paragraph type questions using complete sentences when working through past examination papers.

16. Engage with resources like the ones used in the examination papers while you are studying. For example: study the picture and ask yourself questions like: what is the topic of the picture? (look at the heading). What is the resource telling me? Does it show a positive or negative impact?
17. It is important that you practise how to present your answers in a logic way that show logical reasoning. That is when you write down how your thoughts led you to an answer.
18. How to study definitions: Break the word or words up into understandable parts e.g. inter (between) national (nations/ countries) thus international means between different countries.
