2.2	2.2.1	Market economy√	(1)
	2.2.2	Planned economy√	(1)

2.3 CHARACTERISTICS OF A MARKET ECONOMY

- Private individuals own and control the factors of production. ✓✓
- Entrepreneurs decide what to produce.
- Entrepreneurs decide how production will take place.
- Individuals decide what goods and services to consume.

(Mark only ONE relevant answer correct for 2 marks / any other correct characteristic)

(2)

2.4 DISADVANTAGES OF A PLANNED ECONOMY

- People do not have choices. ✓✓
- Entrepreneurial skills and innovation are not rewarded. ✓✓
- People earn the same amount whether they work hard or if they are lazy.
- Productivity is often low because businesses do not aim to make profits.
- If productivity and production decrease people will not be able to satisfy their needs.
- There is a limited range of products because there is no competition.

(Mark only TWO relevant answers correct for 2 marks each / any other correct characteristics) (4)

2.5 Mixed economies were formed to solve the problems associated with free market and centrally planned economic systems. ✓✓ (2)

2.6 PROBLEMS LINKED WITH THE GLOBAL ECONOMY

- Free trade in goods and services could make it difficult for producers in developing countries to compete with producers in developed countries. 🗸 🗸
- The free movement of labour can cause skilled workers from developing countries to move to more developed countries in search of higher wages.
- Free movement of capital can lead to foreign investors exploiting labour by paying very low wages. This leads to the creation of sweatshops in developing countries.

(Mark only ONE relevant answer correct / Any other correct and relevant answers)

3.2	•	Businesses provide goods and services to households.   Households spend on the goods and services sold.  Businesses receive an income also known as sales revenue.  (Mark only ONE relevant answer correct)	(2)
3.3	•	Natural resources / Land√ Labour√ Capital√ Entrepreneurship√	(4)
3.4	•	Government receives an income in the form of taxes from households and businesses.  Government provides public services to both the households and businesses of South Africa. These include services such as healthcare, transport, security and education. The government also buys goods and services from businesses. For example, state hospitals buy linen from bedding shops and they require the services of electricians and plumbers to do maintenance and fix things in the hospitals. Government also receives services from households in the form of labour. For example: teachers, police and office workers supply the government with labour through the work they do. #### 4.4 LAW OF SUPPLY

- When prices increase, supply increases. ✓
- When prices decrease, supply decreases. √

MARKING	ECONOMIC AND MA	NAGEMENT
GUIDELINE	SCIENCES	GRADE 9

4.5 FACTORS INFLUENCING THE DEMAND FOR PANCAKES

- The price of the product: The quantity of a product consumers buy depends on the price of the product. ✓ ✓ For example, if the price of chocolates is low, consumers buy more chocolates, and if the price is high, they will buy less chocolates.
- The amount of money consumers have to spend / disposable income: How much of a product consumers buy depends on how much money they have. If consumers' incomes are high, they buy more of a product, and if their incomes are low, they buy less.
- Advertising: The advertising of the product determines how much of the product consumers buy. If advertising is effective, consumers demand more of the product. If there is no advertising, consumers demand less of the product.
- The price of other products: The price of other products can also affect how much of a product consumers purchase. For example, if the price of petrol increases, this could affect consumers' demand for cars.
- Weather conditions: The weather can also affect the quantity of a product that consumers buy. If, for example, the weather is cold and wet, the demand for warm coats and raincoats would be high. If, however, the weather is hot and dry, the demand for coats and raincoats would be low.
- Fashion: Fashion and trends influence how much of a product consumers purchase. For example, if skateboards became fashionable, then the demand for skateboards will increase.
