2.1.1 Brazil / Brasilië;✓ Russia / Rusland;✓ India / Indië; China (any / enige 2) (2)

2.1.2 Mixed economic system / gemengde ekonomiese stelsel✓ (1)

A mixed economic system is a mixture of private and government control of the economy. ✓ It is a combination of planned and market economy. ✓ The government provides the framework in which the economy exists, e.g. laws and infrastructure. ✓ Ownership of natural resources are shared between individuals and government. ✓ Entrepreneurs decide what to produce.

’n Gemengde ekonomie is ’n kombinasie van privaat en staatsbeheer oor die ekonomie. ✓

Dit is ’n kombinasie van ’n beplande en ’n marke ekonomie. ✓

Die regering voorsien die raamwerk waarin die ekonomie bestaan, bv. wette en infrastruktuur. ✓

Hier word ekonomiese besluite deur die staat sowel as individue en besighede geneem wat die grond en natuurlike hulpbronne besit. ✓

Entrepreneurs besluit wat om te produseer

(any 4 / enige 4) (4)

2.1.3 Planned / closed economies – *Beplande / Geslote ekonomie

ADVANTAGES	DISADVANTAGES
The government strives for economic equality by directing resources to areas where they are really needed. ✓✓	Production is less efficient. This happens at the expense of the consumer. ✓✓
The government focuses on social needs and this results in basic needs of citizens being satisfied. ✓✓	Government is slow to adapt to change. ✓✓
Welfare of all citizens are seen as more important than production and profit.	There is no incentive for people to do their jobs well.
A stable closed economic system with little / no economic unrest.	There is no freedom of choice for consumers.
They can stimulate growth in the industry because the government doesn't have to wait for capital to accumulate before it makes investments in heavy industry.	Directing what consumers want does not always work. It is difficult to motivate workers to excel.

	It is impossible for the government to replace the decision – making capabilities of the private sector. Limits economic growth as there are no entrepreneurs. The lack of profit motive results in less competitive and therefore less productive economy. No competition results in a reduced amount of new product development and improvements.
VOORDELE	NADELE
Die regering strew na ekonomiese gelykheid deur ekonomiese hulpbronne na spesieke gebiede aan te wys waar dit benodig word. ✓✓ Die regering sien om na die welstand van al die landsburgers en dit lei tot die bevrediging van hulle basiese behoeftes ✓✓ Fokus word geplaas op die welstand van die burgers en nie op produksie en winste nie. 'n Stabiele / geslote ekonomie met min of geen ekonomiese onstabieleit. Groei kan gestimuleer word want die regering hoef nie te wag vir kapitaalopeenhoping voordat 'n belegging in swaar industrieë gemaak kan word nie.	Produksie is minder doeltreffend. Dit gebeur ten koste van die verbruiker. ✓✓ Die regering se stesel is onbuigsaam / traag en kan nie vinnig by verandering aanpas nie. ✓✓ Dit is moeilik om werkers te motiveer om te presteer. Geen vryheid van keuse oor watter produkte om te koop vir die verbruikers nie. Dit is onmoontlik vir die regering om die besluitnemings- vermoëns van die privaatsektor te vervang. Dit lei tot 'n nie-mededingende ekonomie. Beperk ekonomiese groei omdat daar geen entrepreneurs is nie. Gebrek aan kompetisie lei daartoe dat die ekonomiese groei en vernuwing van produkte beperk word.
